Labor, Capital, Harmony
Why Grant Succeeded
Railroads Have Troubles
Viewing New York

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

GERMANY PREDICTS that our depression will force an end of harmonious relations between labor and capital, and many strikes may be expected. Let us hope that Germany is mistaken.

The executive committee of the American Federation of Labor calls on organized labor to resist "to the fullest extent any and all attempts to reduce wages and lower American living standards."

To resist wage reduction is to fight the depression, in the opinion of labor unions.

While the question is discussed, wages are being reduced. In certain industries employes are compelled to take "time off" at their own expense.

What is needed is some one with an idea that will make employment at high wages as profitable as it was in 1929. It should never be forgotten that what does not pay will not be done.

NEW YORK celebrated with a parade, and kind words, the 101st anniversary of General Grant's birthday. His granddaughter, the Princess Cantacuzene, and his grandson, Colonel U. S. Grant III, witnessed the ceremonies at Grant's fine tomb on the Hudson river.

For at least 80,000,000 Americans, U. S. Grant is only a name, learned in school books with the names of Lafayette, Washington and others. To other men it is the name of the man who "fought it out," and won. They said he drank whisky, and Lincoln suggested that some of the other generals find out what kind of whisky Grant drank, and buy a lot of it.

• • •

THE INTERESTING fact in Grant's life is this. When he had nothing in particular to do, he did nothing in particular. In fact, before the world heard of him, after he left West Point, he knew more about whisky than he did about anything else.

But when the chance came to do something worth while, he did it, gloriously.

What three-quarters of all the people on earth need is a chance to do something worth while. Our kind of society doesn't give them the chance. They are fitted into a job like a horse in the traces of a street car and jog along until they fall, and make room for another.

That may change, but not in this century, nor in the next ten.

• • •

AUTOMOBILE manufacturers send new cars to their destinations, sometimes hundreds of miles away, loaded on automobile trucks, instead of sending them by rail. The railroads feel this in their receipts. The interestate commerce commission permits lines of the southwest to reduce the freight rates on automobiles to meet that "driveaway" competition.

Why do the railroads need permission to reduce rates? They are selling transportation and should need no permission to meet any competition.

As long as the country is not prepared to guarantee profits to railroads why should it interefere with their making profits if they can?

The railroads have a big problem of reorganization before them, a good deal bigger than some railroad men realize, and should not be hampered.

SOCIETY USES DISTINCTIVE AID METHODS

St. Vincent De Paul Active as Charitable Organization in Marion.

COMMUNITY FUND AGENCY

Group Works Quietly To Administer Relief to Needy of All Creeds in City.

Herewith is the third of a series of articles published by The Star to acquaint its readers with the activities of the agencies of the Community Fund, which this week will launch a public appeal for $73,397 to finance the agencies for the next 12 months. This article deals exclusively with work of the St. Vincent De Paul Society, a fund agency.

• • •

The St. Vincent De Paul Society of St. Mary's Catholic church is a Community Fund agency that, though little heard of, carries on a sizeable program of relief work in Marion. Its activities are distinctive in many ways from all other methods of applying relief money.

Organized with the primary purpose of handling relief work the society is composed of men, whose efforts are rewarded only with the inward satisfaction of seeing a needy child clothed, and hungry family fed or kept warm during winter months.

Works Quietly

The society works unobstrusively, giving attention to cases which its members, after making a thorough investigation of circumstances of the family to be helped, believe are deserving. Relief is given in a number of ways, sometimes as rent, fuel, food, clothing and medical care.

There is no duplication of effort, as the work of the society is carefully checked with the Family Welfare society and the city poor relief department. Relief may be given temporarily, or for long periods of time where a prolonged illness has stricken the wage earner of the family.

A report covering activities of 10 months shows that 38 adults and 55 children were assisted by the society during that period, for lengths of time ranging from two weeks to 46 weeks.

When a case is called to the attention of the society, it is investigated by two or three members,

CRACK PILOT KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES

Daredevil Stunting Causes Death of Speed Holman at Omaha, Neb.

By The Associated Press

OMAHA, Neb., May 18—Death has brought to a close the aerial career of Charles W. "Speed" Holman, 33, of St. Paul, whose name for years had been high in the list of American aviators. He was killed yesterday while stunting upside down at a height of only 20 feet at the Omaha air races. Twenty thousand spectators saw him die.

His own magnanimity, his friends said, was the indirect cause of the death of the St. Paul aviator whose stunts in the air had thrilled thousands during the past decade. During a lull in the closing day program, Holman volunteered to go aloft and stunt for the capacity holiday crowd. A stiff, treacherous wind was blowing above the field. For 15 minutes he had delighted the crowd with his sky antics. Barrel-rolls, outside loops, immelman turns, each in turn, brought spectators to their feet.

No official verdict on the cause of the fatal crash had been reached today. Some official observers believed Holman's safety belt broke, allowing him to fall partly out of the cockpit.

TAX UPHELD

Supreme Court Declares Indiana Chain Store Levy Valid.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 18—The Indiana law of 1929 imposing heavy license fees on chain stores was sustained as valid today by the supreme court.

The law was attacked on the ground there was no proper relation between the number of stores and the business conducted in applying the tax and that it had no real relation to public health and safety.

The state claimed it was a rational tax, operated equally and evenly and was valid. Justice Roberts in rendering the opinion said the court held the classification was good and the tax was valid.

Highway Pedestrian Killed by Automobile

MANSFIELD, O., May 18—Dalley Madison, 18, was killed, and Jesse Williams, 20, injured, when an automobile driven by C. T. Hancock struck them as they were walking along a road near here early today. Sam Kent, 17, who was with Madison and Williams, was not hurt.

Authorities exonerated Hancock, who said he was blinded by the headlights of another car.

Board Cuts Salaries in County Schools

Ten Per Cent Reduction Voted at Meeting with Superintendent Rayburn; To Be Effective in September.

Salaries of Marion county school teachers, supervisors and superintendents were cut 10 per cent Saturday for the school term beginning next September, as the county board of education, in a joint meeting with chairmen of local boards in the county, took the principal step in a "sane retrenchment program" to meet an obvious shrinkage of school funds available for the 1932 term.

To Protect Program

Announcement of the action was made this morning by County Superintendent C. B. Rayburn, who with 140 other school executives, will sustain reductions under the action. This step and others which will be worked out during the next few weeks are of an emergency nature, and were taken to protect the county school program from suffering any radical curtailment during the next term.

Other steps in the retrenchment program, which was outlined Saturday morning by Superintendent Rayburn in a meeting with all local superintendents in the county after an exhaustive study of the budgets and programs in each school had been made during the last three months by Superintend-

The 1932 convention of the Ohio State Junior chamber of commerce will be held in Marion. The condition of the lad was reported serious today by doctors at the hospital. A complete recovery was expected however.

OUT OF RACE

Women have kept entering the sports world in increasing numbers in recent years, but there is still one major sports event in which their sex bars them. Elfrieda Mais (above), twice wed, who has won some fame as an automobile driver in co-ed races on smaller tracks throughout the country, will not be permitted to attain her lifelong ambition to pilot a car over the Indianapolis speedway in the annual classic. Although three women are listed as entrants in the 500-mile race this year, none will be allowed to compete.

POLICE INVESTIGATE THEATER DISORDER

Stench Fluid Released from Bottle Drives Patrons from Building.

Police today were conducting an investigation into the pouring of a pint bottle of a disagreeable smelling fluid on the floor at the Ohio theater yesterday at 8:30 p. m.

The theater was filled at the time and many were forced to leave, the show was continued however and by the use of several counteracting agencies, the odor was eliminated to the extent that many of those who left were able to return.

The bottle which had contained the mixture was found by the police. The bottle had been filled and a paper stopper arranged so that when the bottle was upset the cork came out allowing the contents to spread over the floor.

A sample of the mixture was taken to police headquarters where it was analyzed as a home made product. So offensive was the odor and so powerful that the entire theater building was filled, the members of the Elk's lodge were forced to leave their rooms above the theater for several hours.

Attorney General Enters Fight Over Right of Colleges To Oust Students.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 18—Attorney General Gilbert Bettman announced today he would aid in seeking a reversal in higher courts of the recent injunction decision of Judge Barnes of Sidney, in the case of Jean West of Portsmouth, a student at Miami university, Oxford.

The judge granted the girl an injunction, restraining the university from excluding her because she failed to make the required marks in classes.

Because of the vital importance of the case to all state supported institutions of higher learning, Bettman said, he would acceed to the request of Dr. A. H. Upham, president of Miami, and would cooperate in prosecuting the case for a reversal. He will file briefs as "a friend of the court," he said.

KINDLER OF PRISON FIRE GOES ON TRIAL

Death Sentence Hangs Over Ohio Pen Inmate If Convicted.

COLUMBUS, O., May 18—Clinton Grate, convict, was ordered to trial here today on a first degree murder charge growing out of the Ohio penitentiary fire a year ago.

He is charged specifically with the killing of Howard T. Brashear of Columbus, one of the 320 prisoners who lost their lives in the fire. Selection of a jury was expected to take up the first two days of the trial.

Grate was indicted jointly with Hugh Gibson, alias Gibbons, a fellow prisoner. Although they confessed igniting a fuse which the state claims started the conflagration, they maintained they were innocent of intent to kill and pleaded not guilty to the murder charge. Gibson's trial will follow Grate's.

Two attorneys, named by the court to defend Grate, indicated they would seek to prove that defective wiring was responsible for the fire. The defense summoned 20 convicts as witnesses. The state did not call Warden Preston E. Thomas to testify, but will.

The witnesses will include Dan Bonzo, record clerk at the penitentiary, and probably nine convicts who figured in the investigation that brought the confessions of Grate and Gibson.

False Alarm Joker Back at Old Tricks

The false alarm joker who has shown no activity during the last week, pulled a box at the intersection of Bennett and Waterloo streets shortly after midnight this morning, calling out firemen from the No. 2 station. Fire Chief McFarland said this morning he believed the offender was the same party who gave the department a series of runs last week.

OHIO GANGSTER IS SHOT DOWN

"Bill" Kirkillis Slain as Canton, Masillon Gang Rivalry Flares.

VICTIM IS AMBUSHED

Dead Man, Reputed Bootlegger, Known as "King of Columbia Heights."

By The Associated Press

MASSILLON, O., May 18—A gangster's gun brought death early today to William "Bill" Kirkillis, 38, reputed chieftain of a bootleg ring who, police said, had vowed venegance for the death of a henchman slain four days ago.

Kirkillis, known as the "king of Columbia Heights," a suburb, was just starting his automobile after leaving an apartment house when a man, concealed in the doorway of a nearby building, fired four times. One of the bullets struck Kirkillis in the right side, passing through his heart.

The slaying of Kirkillis and that of Jim Speros, Canton underworld character, last Friday were believed by police to be the outgrowth of warfare between rival gangs of Massillon and Canton. Kirkillis, it was reported, had been a marked man since a string of Columbia Heights speakeasies owned by a rival faction was raided by federal officials.

Speros also had been looked upon in the underworld as a federal "tipster," police said. He had been mentioned as an informer for Don R. Mellett, Canton vice crusading editor who was slain four years ago.

Kirkillis had been arrested a number of times on liquor charges and recently finished a sentence in the workhouse on a charge of stabbing an alleged rival.

NEW ECONOMIES ARE OUTLINED BY HOOVER

Interior Department To Slash Expenses $7,000,000 Within Three Years.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 18—The presidential pencil of economy is expected to strike $17,000,000 or more from expenses of the interior department for the next three years.

For the second consecutive weekend, President Hoover returned from his Rapidan, Virginia, camp, convinced that a saving could be made in a government department. Last week, the war department was considered and a decision reached for the abandonment of 20 to 30 obsolete army posts and a concentration of activities.

Interior department officials, who had found no unusually large items they believed could be stricken, presented their savings outline at conferences Saturday and Sunday. They expect to save $4,000,000 this year, $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 next year and $7,000,000 to $8,000,000 the following year by restricting some activities and deferring other work. Just what activities will be curtailed or what work put off was not announced

START REAPPRAISAL OF LAND, BUILDINGS

County Auditor Puts Workers on Task of Setting New Values.

Twenty-four men this morning took the initial step in the huge task of reappraising real estate and buildings in Marion county for taxation purposes. Six others who will work in the townships could not be given their supplies at a meeting in the courthouse Saturday afternoon and consequently will not begin work until later this week.

County Auditor Earl Thomas today continued to guild up a corps of workers to reappraise land and buildings in towns and villages of the county. City appraisers will be named later.

Township appraisers should complete their task within three or four weeks, Thomas estimated. Although a reduction in the value of land and buildings is expected in the reappraisement, Auditor Thomas has warned the workers that no radical reduction can be made.

But do you know, that I never saw people moving around as much. Everyone of us is hustling from bank to bank trying to renew our notes.

A man has to be mighty careful nowadays or he will burn up more gasoline trying to get a loan than the loan is.

OUTLINES WAY TO CUT SUPPLY

Delegate at World Wheat Conference Suggests Plan To Eliminate Surplus.

11 NATIONS REPRESENTED

Means Sought To Boost Price of Grain to Profitable Level.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 18—Howard Ferguson, Canadian high commissioner, convened the world wheat conference here today, outlining in his inaugural speech broad methods of alleviating the world surplus. Delegates of 11 wheat exporting countries were in attendance.

At the outset Mr. Ferguson termed disposal of surplus wheat stock a matter of outstanding importance to the world, explaining that the wheat growing industry contained two essential problems, that the wheat reach the customers when required and that the producer get a reasonable price for his product.

Automatic Adjustment

"Low prices," he said, "have a tendency to correct themselves — acreage shrinks and business decline shortens supplies and raises prices.

"The result is dearer bread. Our efforts must be directed to help the fathers get a fair wage and maintain their families without overcharging their fellow workers who must buy bread."

Ferguson said that the conference should not delve into possible better ways of bringing the customer and producer together. Certain schools of economists, he said, have argued that the present overproduction of wheat is merely keeping step with natural increases in world population and that the present abnormal situation has been brought about in part with faulty distribution methods which failed to bring the crop to consumers in an orderly way.

The conference adjourned until tomorrow.

Eleven Represented

The nations represented at these meetings are the United States, Canada, Australia, Argentina, Bulgaria, Hungary, India, Poland, Rumania, Jugoslavia and Soviet Russia.

The United States is represented by Mr. McKelvie, former governor of Nebraska, and grain member of the farm board; Dr. A. E. Taylor of Leland Stanford university, and Nils A. Olsen, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics.

By The Associated Press

ELYRIA, O., May 18—Prepared by 13 previously attempted holdups within a year, Matt Gardner, one-armed proprietor of a gasoline filling station near here, yesterday shot and killed a youthful robber and caused the arrest of his companions.

The youth, who according to his three companions, was Wilson Cole, 18, of Pittsburgh, produced a gun and commanded "hands up" while buying oil, Gardner said. Gardner leaped so that two of the youths, who were unarmed, were between him and the gunman, seized his own gun which he had hidden in a convenient box, and fired.

One of the youths, who gave his name as Henry Jollie, 19, also of Pittsburgh, ran down the highway in the confusion, but was captured by County Prosecutor Don W. Myers, who was playing golf nearby. The other two, booked as Nichola Parretta, 19, and Alfred Gallo, 18, both of New York, complied with Gardner's order to [illegible] their hands up.

STEEL BREAKS TO LOW MARK

Shares Tumble Below 100 in Early Slump; Mild Advance Later.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 18—The stock market quietly penetrated new low ground in the bear market today. [illegible] the eighth consecutive session there was no relief from the [illegible] liquidation of the rails and [illegible] the leading industrials [illegible]. While bear selling was undoubtedly a factor, it was [illegible] in brokerage circles that considerable real liquidation was [illegible] into the market, and a substantial portion of it was believed [illegible] from foreign sources.

The pressure against U. S. Steel and American Can finally pushed both issues under the 100 mark, with losses of about 2 and 3 points. A mild recovery occurred in early afternoon. Wide breaks were numerous in the rails, Atchison, New York Central, Southern Pacific, New Haven Union Pacific and Norfolk & Western breaking 4 to [illegible] 8 points.

Failure of the market, as measured by price averages, to meet important support around the bear market low established on April 29 was a distinctly bearish development, so far as Wall Street sentiment was concerned, but most of the particular issues under [illegible] pressure had been penetrating new low ground for several days while much of the rest of the list has held fairly well. The rails have dipped below the bottom of the bear market of 1907, although still holding above the [illegible] of the post-war deflation. One of the leading advisory services in its weekly analysis today, expressed the opinion that the deflation in the carrier issues was close to its extreme limit."

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

With practically no change in prices, dealers today were receiving fresh supplies after unusually heavy Saturday buying. Ample supplies of practically all kinds of seasonable fruits and vegetables were available.

An increased demand for new potatoes was reported by dealers today. Although the supply is ample, no price change was quoted and dealers were asking from five to eight cents a pound. Old potatoes are becoming scarce and the price of from 45 to 55 cents a peck was being asked today. Few hothouse tomatoes were coming on the market today, the demand being almost entirely supplied by southern grown varieties.

Strawberries continue plentiful although dealers carried but few over from Saturday. A price of from 25 to 30 cents a quart was being asked today. Pints were selling at two for 25 cents. Oranges have advanced five cents on a dozen, dealers are now asking from 25 to 45 cents.

Cleveland Gets Willie Kamm from Chicago White Sox

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 18—In his seventy-third year and not in the best of health, Charles A. Comiskey "the old Roman," is still striving to weld together another American league championship contender for Chicago.

After the world series scandal of 1919, which caused him to wreck a great team, Comiskey's White Sox sagged and sagged into the depths of the league. A year ago he hired Donie Bush, who had given Pittsburgs a National league title, to manage his club, and since then has bought and traded in an effort to fashion a club capable of attracting enough customers to fill the huge White Sox playing park

His latest effort has been to trade Willie Kamm, for whom he paid $100,000 in 1922, and who was one of the league's standing third basemen, for Lew Fonseca of the Cleveland Indians. Fonseca, who led the American league in batting in 1929, will be used either at second or third, and his hitting should help the Sox to win games.

GRAINS MOVE IN DOWNTREND

Showers in Canada Aids Bears Push Prices Slightly Lower.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 18—Showers in Canada and a liberal increase of wheat on ocean passage led to early lower grain prices today. Stock market weakness had a further bearish effect. Opening ¾ cents off to ¼ up wheat afterward dropped. Corn started ⅛@⅜ lower and subsequently underwent further decline.

Auspicious reports as to domestic winter wheat crops gave bears increasing advantage. About the only encouragement for bulls relative to the winter wheat outlook was a statement from a leading authority that the next few weeks would be the critical period for growth, and that intense heat or hot winds could cause a material downward revision of crop estimates. Enlarged selling pressure and lack of buying support for wheat became especially evident after steel shares dropped below 100, and almost simultaneously the corn market outdid the season's low price record.

Numerous stop-loss orders in wheat were forced into execution by successive setbacks in prices. Corn belt reports said crop prospects were good, and that the greater part of early planted corn was coming up well. Augmented receipts of corn in Chicago, 158 cars, acted also as a weight on values. A week ago, Chicago arrivals were only 52 cars. Oats sagged with corn and wheat.

Provisions reflected weakness both of cereals and the hog market.

MARION SHUTS OUT DELAWARE NINE, 3-0

Marion's Sunday baseball team boosted its season percentage to one won and one lost yesterday by handing Delaware a 3 to 0 shutout on the Lincoln park diamond. Delaware was shoved back into last place in the league standings by the beating.

Marion played good ball to defeat the Delaware nine, committing only one error. Mougey, hurling for the winners, pitched a good brand of ball, giving the losers only eight hits and scattering them effectively. Marion connected eight hits but converted them into the three runs with the aid of a couple of the four Delaware errors.

The score by innings and batteries:

Marion .... 000 101 10x—3
Delaware .... 000 000 000—0

Marion, Mougey and Conroy; Delaware, Niebert and Birch.

STEAM SHOVEL OPENS WITH 10-1 VICTORY

Local Nine Hits Hard To Beat W. Mansfield in Saturday Battle.

The Marion Steam Shovel baseball team opened the 1931 season Saturday by trouncing the West Mansfield 10 to 1 in a one-sided contest. Marion jumped on the offerings of Hudson and Elliott, West Mansfield hurlers, for 10 hits and combined the hits to good advantage for the same number of runs. A total of five errors were marked up against the two teams, three being charged to Marion.

Two big innings gave Marion all of its 10 runs. After going scoreless in the first two the locals went on a scoring spree and counted seven markers before the third man was out. Again in the sixth, Marion scored three runs which completed the local scoring. West Mansfield crossed the plate once in the fourth frame.

Score by innings and batteries:

Marion .... 007 003 00x—10
West Mansfield .... 000 100 000— 1

drop to fifth place in the American league standings.

A lot of reasons have been advanced for the Indians' miserable showing during the last week. However, the principal reason for most of the losses seems to be the lack of good pitchers. Wes Ferrell is the only high class hurler on the squad roster and he isn't in good shape now, a sore arm bothering him considerably.

The Indians were picked as a first division team at the start of the season. They may finish that high but the club's hurling will have to be holstered if the team finishes that high. With a few exceptions the rest of the club will hold its own with most of the league entries but the pitching is far from the necessary standard to win games in the American league.

BARRYMORE AT OHIO

A strange story becomes a stranger picture in John Barrymore's "Svengali,' at the Ohio tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday. Barrymore has sacrificed his manly handsomeness for the colorful, sinister makeup of "Svengali," the mysterious music master with hypnotic power. Marian Marsh is a sweet, pleasing young Trilby, an artist's model who falls under the spell of Svengali to the complete oblivion of even Bramwell Fletcher, the "Little Billee" whose love for her takes him over a continent to find her.

The picture is for adults only. Trilby is in love with "Little Billee," but under "Svengali's" power she writes him a farewell note and leaves with the music master.

When "Svengali's" power is waning, they go to a cheap cafe in Egypt to sing. "Little Billee" is there. In the closing moments of the picture, "Svengali" is happy in the belief that "Little Billee" can never have "Trilby's" love. But we won't spoil the picture by telling how this comes about.

A Ripley "Believe It or Not," newsreel and comedy complete the bill. H. H.

"BEYOND VICTORY" AT MARION

"Beyond Victory" at the Marion tonight and Tuesday is the story of war and an international love affair with Bill Boyd, James Gleason and Lissi Arna playing the leading trio. Zasu Pitts and Gleason have the comedy lines.

Bill Boyd, Gleason and four other men are left in a deserted town to fool the enemy into thinking it is occupied by the main body of troops until reinforcements can be brought. As the men, one by one are caught by the German snipers, they tell Boyd stories of their homes and mothers and sweethearts. The snipers get Boyd and Gleason who wake up in a hospital. Lissi Arna, Boyd's sweetheart is there and romance gets another close-up when the picture ends.

Methodists Hear Bishop in Two Sermons Sunday

Edwin H. Hughes, Head of Chicago Area, Preaches at Closing Day of Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church Centennial Celebration.

From the text, "Fear not little flock: for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom of heaven," found in Luke, 12.32, Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of the Chicago area of the Methodist Episcopal church preached Sunday morning at Epworth M. E. church on the closing day of Epworth's centenial week. He preached Sunday night from Matthew, 18:2-20, an exultation of childhood.

The church auditorium was filled for the morning service and at night the auditorium and galleries were filled

In Bishop Hughes' morning sermon he divided the text into its three parts to show the mixed metaphor of the verse and its meaning. "Our Father made such an impression of spiritual unity in what He had to say that the literary diversity was not conceivable," he said.

Bishop Hughes interpreted the flock as of sheep, the Father as the head of a family and the kingdom as a throne room "We can hardly see where the identification of the linking of the lamb with children and shepherdhood with fatherhood begins and where the identification ceases," Bishop Hughes said.

In closing his sermon he lauded Helen Keller as representing the most wonderful single achievement in personal education in the world today. "She is the most highly educated woman of her physical limitations the world has ever seen," was his tribute to the deaf, dumb and blind woman whose favorite psalm is the Twenty-third

Bishop Hughes' sermon was replete with his personal interpretations of his text, gathered through his own experiences and the experiences of men with whom he has come in contact.

Bishop Hughes made a strong plea for the children to have the right to play and grow and be happy, in his sermon Sunday night. "Six hundred thousand children under age in our America are compelled to toil long hours each day in some of our industries," he pointed out. "The best place to find God," according to Bishop Hughes, "Is from the child."

The Epworth choir sang two anthems, "Jesus, Friend of Sinners" and "The Hallelujah Chorus," directed by Knox Dunlop and accompanied at the organ by Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence. A Junior choir of 40 voices, directed by Mrs. C. E. Turley sang "Beautiful Savior" and "Praise Ye the Father," with Mrs. F. A. Boyer at the piano

THE METHODS of gangsters under the modern system are interesting. It is shown that in New York City they have put millions in banks. One young man from Porto Rico who reached New York not long ago with a fortune of ten cents, and no more, tells an official investigating him: "I have got $600,000 soaked away. And you can all go and jump in the river." Wealth is arrogant. Another "policy king" had deposited $1,250,000. These men can be reached only by income tax procedure. Where cash is involved we take law-breaking seriously.

BOARD CUTS WAGES OF COUNTY TEACHERS

Ten Per Cent Reduction Voted at Meeting with Superintendent.

ent Rayburn, needs action of the local boards to make them effective. The meeting was called by Superintendent Rayburn, who also explained action taken by the group to the county board.

The proposed steps outlined by the superintendents will be submitted to each board in the county system as a recommendation. Since the question of how to meet the anticipated shrinkage in tax money next year has vexed local boards for many months, the proposed program is very likely to be adopted by all boards in the county, Superintendent Rayburn said.

To Release 11

Combination of certain classes, entailing the release of 11 teachers in the county, a revision of the school program to have certain subjects taught only in alternating years, and an increase in the teacher load are among the steps which Superintendent Rayburn, with the approval of the local superintendents, has suggested. Every school in the county system is slated for such revision.

The superintendents Saturday morning stated their desire to cooperate in every possible way to meet the anticipated shrinkage, and yet protect the standards of the school system and guard against jeopardizing the interests of the pupils.

Marion county is one of the first in the state to take action to meet the anticipated reduction in school revenues next year, a [illegible] condition, the county superintendent said.

A schedule of wages for teachers, calling for a gradual increase each year, will be followed this year before the 10 per cent reduction is made. The schedule for elementary school teachers fixes a minimum of $900, increasing to a maximum of $1,125 in six years. The high school schedule varies between a low of $1,260 and a high of $1,485, with the maximum figure available after six years of service.

W. C. T. U. HITS WETS

Foresees Stronger Dry Laws in Future Instead of Repeal.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 18—A trend in state legislatures toward strengthening of prohibition laws instead of repeal was seen today by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

In a statement, the organization said in the last 10 years 22 states "have strengthened enforcement laws; only five states have repealed their laws."

"Despite tremendous wet propaganda," the statement asserted the wets have shown negligible political strength. New Jersey is a fine example of wet failure. The wet resolutions and bills at Trenton in the legislature just adjourned comprised the entire gamut of wet proposals, from outright repeal to an expression favoring Dwight Morrow's plan to revise the eighteenth amendment. The legislature adjourned with the entire collection of wet resolutions dead in committee."

BOMB EXPLOSIONS INJURE 15 IN LISBON

Infuriated Crowd Riots After Missles Are Hurled into Gatherings.

By The Associated Press

LISBON, Portugal, May 18—Fifteen persons were injured in the explosion of three bombs on the streets of Lisbon early today as crowds celebrating achievements of the dictatorship of President General Carmona returned to their homes.

The first bomb was thrown into the heart of a great crowd in the Praza De Rocio, and wounded thirteen people. The infuriated crowd chased the man supposed to have thrown the bomb, but he escaped in the confusion. There was some firing of revolvers for several minutes as the injured persons were removed and taken to hospitals.

The fury of the people rose to high pitch. They gesticulated with their fists and shouted "down with the Communists!" "Down with the revolution!" nad "down with the free masons!" A procession, in which students predominated, formed and marched on the newspaper Republica, shouting wildly.

The doors were broken down and the mob rushed inside, wrecked the plant, and set piles of papers afire. The police, arriving at last, turned out the rioters and took charge of the building, establishing a heavy guard.

The police in motor cars immediately began a roundup of the city's underworld characters.

Tanks Will Replace Horses in U. S. Cavalry

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 18—Speedy man-made tanks are going to replace about 8,000 horses in a part of the United States cavalry.

When General Douglas MacArthur, chief of army staff, yesterday announced his mechanization program for the cavalry, he said this step was being undertaken in an effort to modernize that branch of the defensive forces.

Ten years of study, based on lessons learned in the World war, he said, have established the superiority of tanks and their greater strategic mobility for some functions.

Pope Considers Spanish Riots "Sacrileges Against God."

VATICAN CITY, May 18—Riots and incendiarism over all of Spain during the last 10 days in which churches and church buildings have been sacked and burned, are considered by Pope Pius XI to be "sacrileges against God and holy religion."

A heavy responsibility exists on the malefactors and upon those "who allowed these things to take place and have not hindered them," the pontiff said in his first public utterance on the subject, to a group of Spanish pilgrims headed by the auxiliary bishop of Valencia, Sunday.

"We pray God that he will reply wih His justice to these provocations, but that He will be merciful," the pontiff said.

The pontiff commented that the hand of God was always ready and from one moment to another could show itself and change everything.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, May 19

THE lunar transits for this day show the probability of a sudden change in which the quickened energies and spirit of initiative are assured the prospect of a fairly remunerative culmination. There will be a splendid stimulus to adventure, original work and high purpose, but there should be no loopholes for misunderstanding or fraud in the signing of papers or writings.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of beneficial change with prospect of high adventure and enterprise with the faculties and forces well stimulated to achievement. The financial outlook is good, but be careful in signing all manner of writings and contracts. A child born on this day should be enterprising, constructive and ingenious in advanced ways.

3,000 School Pupils Join in Annual Health Parade

Chautauqua Pavilion at Garfield Park Crowded as King and Queen Are Crowned After Parade from Forest Lawn School.

Chautauqua pavilion was filled to overflowing with school children and parents Saturday afternoon for the Health May day program which followed the parade from Forest Lawn school to Garfield park.

The parade from Forest Lawn school, in which nearly 3,000 children of the first six grades of the public and parochial schools marched, was a colorful affair with the children from each school wearing different colored crepe paper hats. Many of the schools entered miniature floats in the parade decorating coaster wagons with health slogans and suggestions.

The king and queen, Donald Gorenflo of east Mark street, and Dorothy Ann Taylor of east Walnut street, rode in a specially decorated truck, surrounded by their 23 courtiers dressed in vivid crepe paper costumes.

East Center street from the school to the park was lined with cars and bystanders to see the parade. City police, Boy Scouts and members of the school boy patrols directed traffic. The Eagles' band furnished march music.

Miss Esther Tress, school nutritionist, was in charge of the parade and program.

Following a processional played by the Greenwood school orchestra under the direction of T. R. Evans, the king and queen were crowned and the program began. A group of students from the Olney Avenue school in costume, danced a minuet and pupils from the Indiana Avenue school gave a farmerette's clog dance in costume. Singing games for children were played by a group from the Forest Lawn school and the Glenwood children sang several songs. The Oakland Heights school children entertained with a May Pole dance. Concluding the program a trophy was presented to St. Mary's Catholic school for its high score in a recent dental examination.

FORCES MAKE GOOD SHOWING

Only Four Minor Mishaps Listed in Yesterday's Maneuvers.

By The Associated Press

FAIRFIELD, DAYTON, O., May 18—The army's flying forces today were winning their fight against the flight of time and the laws of percentage.

Only one day remains before the 600 military planes of the United States army air corps are to trek 250 miles cross-country to Chicago to show their wingmanship, but with only two days of practice at formation flying they were ready to make a creditable showing.

And despite the fact that such large gatherings of airmen usually produce accidents, every plane was expected to make the trip. Only four minor mishaps were chalked up yesterday, causing the ships to be grounded for repairs.

No Fatalities Listed

The task of assembling hundreds of ships from every section of the country and teaching them the intricacies of battle and parade formations neared completion without a single fatality to mar the maneuver.

"Safety first," the principal command of Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulis, assistant chief of the air corps, was foremost in the minds of his men today as they tuned and inspected their planes for an other practice review such as thrilled Ohio and Indiana residents yesterday. Mechanics worked far into the night to have each motor ready. This afternoon also was given to maintenance work. The Chicago take-off is set for 8 a. m. tomorrow.

Bad weather held up the maneuvers yesterday. An early morning rain forced cancellation of practice, but the sky cleared by noon and permitted a review which 200,000 watched.

Distinguished Spectators

A notable gathering was arranged for tonight. Two assistant secretaries for the air, F. Trubee Davison of the war department and David S. Ingalls of the navy, are to be present along with Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, Republican national chairman; Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the air corps; Federal Judge Benson W. Hough, who also is commander of the Ohio National Guard; and Congressman Frank W. James of Michigan, chairman of the military affairs committee of the house

TAX HEARINGS OPEN TONIGHT

Legislative Committees Prepare To Shape Up New State Revenue Plan.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 18—The task of shaping up a new revenue program to be acted upon by the Ohio legislature will get under way tonight when public hearings will be started by the regular taxation committees of the senate and house.

The hearings will be on the proposals submitted by the special joint taxation committee as a basis for the work of revamping the state's tax laws in accordance with the classification system adopted by the voters to replace the uniform rule plan.

Program Outlined

After the hearings are concluded the various bills will be transmitted to the floors of the legislature for consideration by the full membership. The committees this week will devote their time to the bill providing for the taxation of intangible personal property, which includes stocks, bonds, money in banks, and credits. The proposed sales, tobacco, amusement, and soft drink tax measures, together with the suggested auto tag hike, the budget and tax commission bills, will be taken up next week.

Meanwhile, the full assembly, which convenes tonight after the week-end recess, will pass upon legislation left over from the winter and early spring session.

While the intangible tax law has been the center of considerable argument among interested groups, quite a furore also has resulted from the proposed 10 per cent tax on cigarets and tobacco. The Ohio Council of Retail Merchants and several other organizations have served notice that their opposition will have to be overcome before such a tax is approved.

These groups claim that the bill would force many small stores to discontinue the sale of tobacco thus lessening the amount of money the special committee estimated it would yield.

Supporters of the tobacco tax claim it would make up a $12,000,000 deficit faced by the state during this biennum.

Opponents of the intangible tax plan have suggested an income tax in its stead and these two schemes are expected to be the subject of a warm discussion at tonight's hearing. The special committee estimated the yield of the intangible tax at $27,000,000 annually.

Heavy hitting and brilliant fielding by the Galionites easily gave them the edge on the scoring almost from the first inning while Lima's crew, chalking up a few scattered hits, made six errors in the eight innings of play.

Skahilt did the hurling for Galion while Houtz and Leppla did the receiving. Pepple and Goldsmith formed the Lima batteries.

How to End Painful Piles Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the affected parts. The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of quickly ending even piles of long standing, that Henney & Cooper says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.—Adv.

Daily Proverb—"He that will consider the world must own he has never seen a better."

From Paris comes the statement that water is the only drink ever taken by President-Elect Doumer. That man's no true Frenchman.

A Chicagoan has been sentenced to jail for six months for circulating false statements regarding the condition of a Chicago bank. None too heavy, we'll say.

Great Britain plans to expend $140,000,000 for new telephones. In time the telephone may be recognized as a useful convenience by our British cousins.

There isn't anything so surprising in the Washington dispatch presenting figures by the department of commerce showing that the property taxes collected in Passaic, New Jersey, increased 259 per cent. between 1918 and 1929. Considering their increased realty valuations for taxation, it's not improbable that many other American cities proved equally easy picking for the tax-eaters.

The government is said to be in something of a quandary regarding how to replace the $300 worth of liquors stolen from the Salvadorean legation. It might get a tip from that great and good friend of the federal lawmakers who are given to thirsts—the "Man in the Green Hat."

The senate highway investigating committee evidently feels that the quarters of the state highway department down near Sidney are a bit too fancy. Pshaw! The boys just naturally must have offices and garages which will be in keeping with the machines they drive.

The freighter, Red Star, carrying a 150-ton cargo of a famous Pittsburgh product, has left that city for Baltimore by the way of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic. That's going a mighty long way around to reach a comparatively close destination, but it affords something of a light on transportation costs.

Holding that none of the Allies has made good its promise to disarm, Richard Bartholdt, of St. Louis, former congressman, wants the United States to disarm entirely to set the world a good example. Can it be that the pacificists really believe that nations which refuse to carry out their promises to disarm will be led to do so as the result of any example this country might set?

Norma Talmadge has been released from her contract with United Artists because she insisted upon the right to select pictures in which she is to appear. It may be said that she couldn't possibly select poorer vehicles for screen production that many of those the producers choose for their stars, and she might work decided improvement.

Missing the trail and becoming lost in the treacherous swamp lands near Grassland, Alberta, Canada, a sixteen-year-old girl of that place was three times dragged by her dog out of creeks into which she had fallen and when daylight came led by the animal to a farm home on the edge of the bad lands. Just another little true story for the benefit of dog lovers.

America at Its Worst.

Every so often some American more vocal than thoughtful has to indulge in a sounding-off about the liquor supply of diplomats. The most recent to pillory his reputation for common sense is John C. Schafer, representative from the Fourth Wisconsin district, a resident of Milwaukee, and an anti-prohibitionist.

Representative Schafer's intention to ask a committee of the next congress "why law enforcement officers of the federal government are permitting foreign represntatives to violate the eighteenth amendmnt," is announced with the Schaefer tongue in cheek, no doubt, but it is no less a violation of courtesy for that reason. Even without its effect on the diplomats residing in Washington, it would still be disagreeable. One expects more from a man who represents 345,000 people.

The answer, if he were seeking it honestly, could be found in his own store of knowledge, by asking any one connected with the state department or by reading any book of diplomacy. A diplomat enjoys a right known as extraterritoriality, under which his house and equipages are regarded as the territory of the power by which he is accredited. A diplomat is in no way subject to the receiving government. There could not long be friendly relations between nations without such an arrangement.

Representative Schaefer has received publicity for a very foolish and discourteous announcement, which the United States could have done without very nicely. If it's attention he wants, he will get plenty, but of the wrong kind.

Department Store Sales.

One can scout all around a report by the federal reserve board on April sales in department stores without finding a trace of any reason to mistrust the obvious deduction to be made from it.

There was a nine per cent. increase in department store sales in April over March, notwithstanding the fact that Easter fell in March this year, the report states. The deduction is that buying at retail is on the increase. The upward trend is the more remarkable because merchants have learned to expect a buying slump following the buying peak of Easter.

It is in the reasons for the increase that business finds encouragement. First, the decline in commodity prices apparently has reached a point where consumers are convinced they can not afford to refrain from buying. Second, there is reason to believe that the time is close at hand when persistent advertising will start a wide buying trend. Consumers who have managed to get along throughout the winter without articles they would have purchased ordinarily will be buying them soon.

The start may be small, but the effect will be widely distributed. Retailers have been operating on a hand-to-mouth basis, and when there is a pick-up in sales, a replenishment of stocks must be accomplished immediately. That means activity among producers and fresh buying power among their employes.

Signs of returning prosperity have been discounted heavily in recent months, but there is real meat in the sales increase of department stores for the month of April.

Two editions of the Michigan State college paper have been excluded from the mails under the postal regulation barring "obscene and indecent literature," and the editors of the paper will be disciplined by the faculty. Hardly what one would call a good advertisement for a state college.

Seized for perjury at the Seabury inquiry in New York City, it has been found that Henry Miro, known as the "Policy King," had made deposits in three years aggregating $1,251,556. And yet there are suckers who go up against the policy game! Mr. Barnum was right so far as he went, but his figure of one a minute was far too conservative.

Save Your Pity.

The bureau of agriculture, which should know about the farmer if any organization does, advises city folks to save the pity they bestow so freely on rural dwellers. Not in so many words does it make such an utterance, but by massed evidence that rural standards of living have been affected less during the depression than urban standards, and that the farmer has passed the worst period of depression.

With the exception of those regions hard hit by the drought, there has been little actual want for food among the rural population. Even where there has been a grave financial problem forcing the farmer to give up ownership of his farm, he usually has been allowed to continue his residence with no apparent change in his standard of living. He has had his own resources to absorb the shock of hard times.

In the field of "extra" expenditures, where the city dweller turns to economize first, the farmer is little affected. He can still go to his meetings, socials and fairs with little expense. His joy of living, in fact, is rated on a much more inexpensive scale than that of the city dweller. The actual exchange of money means less to him than to his city brother.

The farm always has offered a shelter for the economically depressed, and in a time of depression it is to be expected that large numbers of city dwellers would turn to rural life for relief. That is what is happening. Save your pity. The poor farmer has troubles, but no more than his share.

The claim of a London promoter against a bank of that city for $2,250,000,000 growing out of the bank's refusal to honor a draft for 9,000,000,000 German marks which he purchased as a speculation for $75.25, has been thrown out of court as "ridiculous and absurd." Granting that the claimant's case is worthless, there can be no question of the quality of his nerve.

George Bernard Shaw says that if the British press were not so slow it long since would have recognized the fact that Germany and Austria are going to have not merely a customs union, but a national union as well, "which anybody not afflicted with a time-lag should realize immediately." Shaw's prophetic misses are about as many as his hits, but the chances are better than even that in this particular forecast time will demonstrate that he scored a bull's-eye.

To surpass the airplane distance record, now held by Coste and Bellonte, who in 1929 flew the 4,912 miles from Paris to China without a stop, the British are building a plane with a span of ninety feet which is designed to carry 1,000 gallons of gasoline. It's no affair of ours, but what is to be gained by such accomplishments? A plane equipped to fly 5,000 miles or more can hardly be put to a useful end.

The charge is made that Carol returned to Roumania after his exile, disguised as a peasant, while a French actor, impersonating him, paraded through the streets of Bucharest, to the acclaim of thousands of Roumanians. There is something about the chin of Carol, or rather his comparative absence of chin, which has a tendency to lead one to the conclusion that there may be something in the story. We would never pick him for one liable to take a chance, even for a kingdom.

The effect of the address of the director of public safety of Atlantic City, in which he called upon motorists to aid in decreasing accidents by at all times keeping their cars in perfect condition, was somewhat lessened when a test showed that the wheels of his own car were so out of alignment and the brakes in such condition that a driving certificate was refused him till the defects were remedied. That's one of the troubles in this old world of ours—too much preaching and too little practicing.

DEEDS, NOT WORDS—

Secretary Stimson's latest clarification of the "Hoover policy" may achieve the difficult task of mollifying critics both winthin and without the United States. Speaking over a national radio hook-up, he compressed in one sentence statement designed to please both groups:

"Where American investments or claims are imperiled by the widespread depression, we are seeking to give to Americans all of the counsel and assistance to which they are entitled under the law of nations, while never losing sight of the great fact pointed out by Elihu Root, nearly a quarter of a century ago, that it is 'the established policy of the United States not to use its army and navy for the collection of debts.'"

The reassurance that the United States is not lending the marines to Wall Street for the collection of risky loans should further promote the good will which the Hoover administration has been winning south of the Rio Grande. And the promise to give to American citizens all the "counsel and assistance to which they are entitled under the law of nations" should calm some of the critics who have been crying that Washington has thrown overboard all obligation to protect citizens in foreign lands.

Of course, Mr. Stimson's "counsel and assistance" does not mean a cruiser or a brigade of marines to guard every outpost of American enterprise in the jungles of Central America. Nor does "the law of nations" mean an elastic application of the Monroe doctrine, under which intervention has sometimes been excused.

Indeed, these phrases, when carefully examined, give less comfort to the advocates of a "big-stick" policy in the Caribbean than they appear to on their face. The fact is that Mr. Stimson wore in this speech somewhat the aspect of a man embarrassed by his own good deeds and seeking to belittle them. He said: "We are not departing from American traditions." But he did not say—as he should have if he intended to give a complete picture—"We are departing from a mistaken and un-American bullying attitude too often assumed toward Latin America in recent years."

Happily, Latin America judges the United States more on actions than on speech, and in this case it will probably read Mr. Stimson's pledge of "accustomed protection" for American citizens in the light of the progressive evacuation of Nicaragua. It is much less important that it should be admitted in words that there has been a "change of policy" in the state department than that the new policy of friendliness be actively pursued in deeds.—Christian Science Monitor.

BLAMING IT ON ALFONSO.

Undoubtedly this is a world in which almost anything may happen. But there does seem to be something highly grotesque about the charge by the republican regime in Spain that Don Alfonso excited the recent anti-clerical riots in that country for the nefarious purpose of paving the way to resumption of his throne. Leaving aside several other material considerations, such an action would be crudely stupid, and whatever else he may be, Alfonso is not stupid.

For the moment, the charge made against the ex-king by the government in Madrid sounds considerably like an effort to establish an alibi after a fashion much in vogue among the people of the Iberian peninsula and their derivatives in other parts of the world. The practice of blackguarding the political opposition as a regular part of a political campaign is a well-recognized one throughout Latin America as well as in Spain and Portugal. In those regions denunciation and accusations, born chiefly of fertile imagination and depending very little upon fact for their inspiration, take the place which argument occupies in political disputes among Anglo-Saxons. Mud-slinging is a part of the common procedure, and apparently the idea is that the more fierce the abuse, and the more outrageous, the more effective the campaign.

In the present instance, the Madrid government has special reasons for trying to get from under as much as possible by assaulting the opposition. Its failure to maintain order and prevent riots and depredations, raises a very real question regarding its ability to govern the state successfully, and promises to create an international complication with the Vatican in addition to domestic ones.

Unless the republicans can "hang" the rioting on Alfonso, the disorders unquestionably will have a tendency to strengthen the monarchist party, whose members will be able to say with some point that no such goings on ever took place while they and their king were running things.—Detroit Free Press.

The Word of God.

Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me.—Psalm 51:10.

Back to the Ancients.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

The ancients looked upon the sun as a god. Worship of the sun was known long before the dawn of the Christian era. Not only did the barbarian races pay homage to the sun, but this practice was carried on in cultured Egypt.

Ancient records tells that the father-in-law of King Tut issued a decree that all other gods were to be forgotten. Everybody must worship the sun god, Ra. New temples and a new city were erected to the honor of this god.

As we go on in history, we note that the Greeks and Romans did not worship the sun, but they did appreciate its health-giving properties. "Heliotherapy,'" or the healing of disease by the sun, was practiced by Hippocrates, "Father of Medicine," as early as the fourth century, B. C.

In the works of Cicero there is a description of sun buildings attached to the villas outside of Rome. These structures were similar to the solaria now found at the top of most modern sanitariums.

With the advent of the Christian era, worship of the sun fell into disrepute. It is only within recent years that the value of the sun has again been recognized. No longer is it worshiped as a god, but its therapeutic and strength-building properties are recognized by all.

Sun baths are exceedingly popular and have greatly aided in lowering the number of childhood diseases. In the treatment of rickets, the value of sunlight can not be overestimated. Even though the diet may be somewhat deficient in vitamin D, the presence of abundant sunlight will prevent or cure this disease.

It has been known for many years that the rays of the sun, on passing through a paned window, are deprived of many of their curative values. Within recent years window glass has been manufactured which is believed to eliminate this objection.

The rays of the sun are of the greatest value when uninterrupted in their passage to the body. It is for this reason that Rollier, in Switzerland, and many other specialists in tuberculosis, have recommended the exposure of tubercular children to the direct rays of the sun.

These children are allowed to run around in the sun, scantily clad, and constantly exposed to its penetrating rays. This custom is continued all through the winter months. It is most amazing to see these children, almost unclad, running around in the deep snow.

The results obtained have been almost miraculous. Much credit must be given to our good friend, the sun.

Hurtling Through Space.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

There is one sporting event which never fails in interest. In the human being lurks an instinctive passion for fast travel. Conquest of space at high speed is a tangible proof of the victory of mind over matter, of daring in the face of formidable obstacles. It symbolizes the majesty of science in its ability to manipulate, control and dominate the forces of inanimate nature.

Then, too, aside from the sheerly human element, enter enormously pressing needs and demands of industry, travel, trace and transportation. Time is money; and the saving of time being given a higher financial rating as the world moves forward into new ages. The needs for rapid transportation in war time have always been recognized as vital and imperative. The failure of orders to reach destination within a given time interval may spell the defeat of an army, procure the fall of a fortress, or even accomplish the termination of a great war.

A week seldom passes nowadays that does not announce the breaking of some new speed record. There seems no limit to the supply of daredevils of air, land and water, both male and female. Moreover, scientists and inventors are persistently at work on the problems of reducing friction resistance; of effecting new and more efficient designs for cutting down the eternal obstacle of this frictional resistance; for stream lining cars, boats, ships, planes, aircraft of all sorts. Resistance is a formidable foe, since it increases not proportionately, but by the square of horsepower; and the horsepowewr needed to induce the speed increases by the cube. Efficiency in design plays a large role in technical advance; engines which are at once lighter and more powerful are the goal of the inventor.

Present speeds and the constant breaking of records naturally prompt the query: Are there definite limits which may be set to various types of vehicles for different media? Approximate notions may be arrived at, and set down with some assurance of the accuracy of the prophecies.

Ocean liners, for example, now attain a speed of something less than thirty knots, although capable under forced pressure, for short spurts, of exceeding that limit. From the standpoint of the present day inventor, and unless some revolutionary changes in power, fuel or design are effected, fifty miles an hour for the best ocean liners may long stand as a record to be sought. The motor boat is the water flyer, since it avoids a large percentage of water friction by sticking its nose high in the air. Recently Gar Wood beat the late Sir Henry O. D. Segrave's record by almost three and a half miles per hour, driving his motor boat, Miss America IX, at the breakneck speed of 102.256 miles an hour.

Locomotives have traveled as fast as 102.3 miles per hour. It is not likely, chiefly for economic reasons, that this speed will be greatly exceeded in the near future, owing to the expense of keeping roadbeds in condition. The automobile has traveled on specially designed, straightaway track at the rate of 245.733 miles an hour, the record made this year by Sir Malcolm Campbell. But the psychological factor of attention, a limit for the human being, stands as a barrier to advances beyond a possible speed of 300 miles per hour. For a seaplane the fastest speed yet attained is 357.723 miles per hour. The possibilities for advance in speeds in the region of the air are immense. It is confidently prophesied that a speed of 500 miles per hour will be attained within the reasonably near future.—Copyright, 1931, International Features Syndicate, Inc.

Property Qualification Circumvented.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Under the first constitution of Ohio which was in effect from 1803 to 1851, there was a property qualification to the right to hold office. It was not stated in exactly those words, but that is what was meant. The requirements as to members of the legislature was that they must have paid taxes into the state or local treasury within the year preceding the election.

In the lower branch of the twenty-fifth legislature, which sat more than 100 years ago, there was a contest based on this provision that is interesting. Elijah Hayward had been elected representative in Hamilton county, and Hugh Glen, who is on record merely as an elector of the county, contested his right to take the seat on the ground that he had not paid such tax. Presumably Glen was Hayward's political opponent, and would have got the seat if Hayward had been found ineligible.

Hayward seems to have been a physician, and there was a statute at the time which required persons practicing that profession to pay an annual license fee of five dollars. The committee to which the contest was referred found that Hayward had paid such a fee into the treasury of the state. Inferentially that law was under attack in the courts at the time, and its validity questioned, for the committee in its report found that while the law might be questionable as to its validity, as a matter of fact Hayward had paid taxes under it into the state treasury and this qualified him under the constitutional provision.

Presumably he had no property, for he could not have paid property taxes or the fact would have been shown and it would not have been necessary to resort to the license fee instead. Nevertheless, the provision was no doubt intended as a property qualification and the legislature merely found a way to circumvent it and admit Hayward, who was presumably "of the majority."

Mad Pursuit

Hopeful Hallie

NORA faced Fergus More as he stood there in his office judging her without saying a word. It was a great sacrifice he had asked of her to assume the burden of the whole household from which her coming marriage with Jon was to take her. He semed to be weighing her protesting declaration that her life was her own and she must live it.

"I think we'll be able to manage," he said at last, "as you say it's your life and self-sacrifice is only self-indulgence," he added sarcastically.

But when she joined the others in the back yard her very restlessness seemed to permeate the air as though they all knew that something hung over them. Yet Aunt Em was sewing as usual and Hallie reading the paper.

When Fran had put the children to bed she came back to them. The others, Nora knew, had no inkling of what happened. But Aunt Em's face looked drawn and odd tonight. Hallie had been rattling the paper in a nervous way and she began to read aloud in a dry husky voice.

She came down the stairs that bright May morning, this girl with her heart-shaped face and honey-colored hair."

"That's enough, Hallie," Aunt Em said.

"It's that awful newspaper tripe," Fran said listlessly.

The paper rattled in Hallie's hand; she stared about from one to the other. They looked up surprised.

"I wrote it," Hallie mumbled

Fran sprang up and leaned over her shoulder.

"But that's not your name! A. A. Standish. Darling, why didn't you let us know about it?"

"I didn't even know it was taken until I saw it in the evening paper," Hallie said, color burning in her sallow cheeks. "The story's perfect drivel."

"I thought there was something unusual about it the moment I heard it!" Aunt Em said.

They clustered about her crooked shoulders, excited, forgetting everything but this moment's triumph.

"It's awful rot," Hallie insisted, but her chin was trembling.

Nora read it through aloud while they hung on her words. Trite as it was, she had not been able to read through the love scene without faltering. But they were not even looking at her or noticing the tremble of her voice.

"It's charming!" Aunt Em glowed.

"How much do you think they'll pay you for it?" Fran asked breathlessly.

"Well, I don't know. Newspapers are so wealthy—probably $50. Although you often hear of writers getting a thousand."

'But don't you see what it means? It means Hallie can get anything she writes accepted. Oh Hallie, we sha'n't have to worry about money—oh Hallie, I can't believe it!" Fran was crying.

Aunt Em plunged into plans Would they get new curtains for the back parlor or some rose bushes?

Hallie said modestly, "Well, I thought we might take a little place in the country. Not too far away so that it would be near a good school and the children would love a garden."

Fran's eyes were full of unshed tears.

"I told you we'd be rich in August'" Aunt Em said, "and you laughed at me, I remember. We must tell this to Fergus. Nora, you run in and get him. How pleased Julian will be! He was telling me about his pictures. He thinks they will all sell. He said he'd never touch a brush again—"

Nora put her arm about Fran and at the light touch looked up. She caught her hand and laid it against her dry burning cheek.

"There is a way out!" Fran whispered.

But when Nora went to look for Fergus he was gone. She met her father coming up the steps, and cried gayly:

"I've been having dinner with Jon. He's a fine young fellow, my girl. I tell you our fortune is made!"

It was true as Fran said, they had found the way out. Nora was exultant. Now Fran could go away. She would come back quite well And Nora could leave them all knowing that they were happy at last.

In the morning when she woke a fretful rain beat against the windows. She and Fran lingered until the last moment so that they could wait for the postman. There was a letter for Hallie from the Evening Press. Hallie tore it open with trembling fingers. Inside was a check for five dollars.

• • •

They all knew now that Fran had to go away to a sanatorium in the mountains.

"Don't you envy me," Fran smiled, "escaping this August heat in the city?"

"You always were a lucky dog." Hallie admitted, but her thin hands were working together.

Aunt Em drew Fergus aside.

"You can tell me. I'm her mother I'd rather know the truth"

He told her simply that there was a good chance for Fran's recovery in the mountains. When he had finished she said:

"You must tell her not to worry about us. We'll manage somehow."

But she sat for a long time looking out of the window, her hands for once idle, as she recalled the Fran that had always loved life.

Now that they needed money more than ever, three of Aunt Em's pupils had gone to the country for the summer vacation.

Hallie was working these days with a savage concentration; her eyelids a little swollen as she pounded away on the typewriter late into the hot summer night.

"Look at this," she said as Nora stopped in the store room.

Hallie held out a letter.

"I am a young girl of seventeen. I love a man one year older but he has not been true to me. I want to ask you shall I forgive him o. not?"

She began to read the answer in a peculiarly sardonic voice

"Dear Child:

"I too have known the bitterness of love rejected by a faithful heart. But I want you to think first whether youu shall hurt him. Think what a woman's heart can do, how it can forgive and forget. And take back your friend into your affections, remembering that he too, dear, is human."

Hallie groaned as she ended. "Isn't that awful? I ask you could any human being swallow that? But the woman who runs the column in the pulp paper magazine says that my stuff is so full of human interest!"

When she went upstairs Nora found Fran packing.

"How splendid they are!"

"You're just beginning to see," Fran said looking up, and ended "I'm going tomorrow."

"Oh Fran'"

"I want to tell you, Nora—I've saved enough money to carry them until I get back. Don't look at me like that! I'm not going to die. I can't—don't you see—" Fran choked, "for I have to come back to the children.

"But if I shouldn't get better, you'll stand by them, won't you? Mother's getting old and Hallie can't bear it alone.

The tears streamed down Nora's cheeks. How could she promise? Yet not to was to crucify Fran. Fran caught Nora's hand and laid it against her hot cheek.

Next morning Fergus took Fran to the station, carrying it off with such a casual air that they all played up to him.

"Have a good rest," Aunt Em said. "Don't think about us."

The taxi was waiting. Fran stooped to gather Dickie in her arms.

"You'll come tonight?" Alice cried.

"Not tonight, Alice, but pretty soon. You'll be a good girl?

"Mud, are you ever coming back again?"

"Of course she is," Aunt Em said staunchly.

"Don't kiss me good-by, Nora." Fran said steadily. She looked back, smiling pitifuly as they went down the steps. Fergus was waiting on the sidewalk.

Dickie began to cry, but Aunt Em tickled him until he was chuckling again. The last Fran saw of her son was his waving hand and rosy, dimpled laughter.

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

A FELLA could do a lot with Sunday if it wasn't that Sunday school work took up so much of it. By the time a fella has got up and let his dog down by a rope and put on his short britches and milked the cows and tooken a washing from an ant, after he has fed his face and then went to the pasture with his cows, and then to Sunday school, he has missed a lot of things he could have done and has stayed away from a lot of places he might have went to.

When I had let Jubilee down and all of the bunch was in the barn helping me milk the dummed brutes, and I had opened the barn door to take the milk in and strain it to get the germs out of it, there was a little wild rabbit setting in our front yard near the fence, and our cat was walking around the far corner of the yard pretending it didn't see the rabbit and trying to make a sneak on it and the rabbit was so busy watching the cat that it didn't pay the rest of us any mind till I got almost onto it, and then it went through a place in the fence where a picket is gone and so did I. But the rabbit got away because it wasn't cluttered up with a milk pail too wide to go through the hole in the fence.

There is always something to hold me back. The rest of the bunch and their dogs and Jubilee chaseted the rabbit acrosst the road into the brickyard, and they marked the hole in the woodpile where it went in at, so after I had fed my face and got washed and almost skinned by my ant we all went over there, and moved the woodpile, but the rabbit hadn't waited for us. So then my mother hollered at me to go and take the cows out, so I did. It is wrong to chase rabbits on Sunday but not wrong to chase cows. Cows are so much bigger than rabbits I should think chasing them would be worse, but it ain't. Little boys don't understand everything, and that's one of the things he don't.

After dinner I had to stay home and take care of Annabelle Lee because everyone but me and Annabelle Lee wanted to take a nap.

Today was Monday and my grandfather went fishing. He said it had been so long since he had fed the fish anything he'd bet they would climb out on the breakwater and chase him home, and my ant said it would be easy for them to mistake him for a worm or a frog, and he said nothing would ever mistake him or her for a chicken. I went to school then because Youniss and Feeble and Maggie were waiting for me. Feeble has got a stiff neck and still walks bowlegged from riding the cow. She sot down so careful in school that the teacher asted her, "Is there anything wrong with that seat, Feeby?" and Feeble said, "No mom, not that one," and the teacher turned around to raise the curtain on the window so we could all see better

After school we crawfished in the creek till it was time to take the cows home.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Startled by the Appearance of a Chinese.

FOR a tense throbbing second as the face outside Mrs. Ticer's sitting-room window came slowly into view, I sat motionless Then as the coarse black hair, lemon-colored face and slanting eyes of a lower-class Chinese came into view I remembered the lessons which I had learned under Lillian when I had aided her in the secret service during the war

"Never show surprise or fear," she always said "but always have your next move planned in advance"

So as I sat with eyes steadily looking at the almond slanting ones peering into the room, I was rejoicing that the couch upon which I was sitting was not backed close against the wall, and that but a little distance from its head was the swinging door into the tiny hall between the sitting room and the kitchen I also noted in one corner of my brain that the couch was on rollers and easily moved

If the owner of the eyes was surprised to see me sitting opposite him he showed no such emotion. He peered into the room as if he had a perfect right to his position, and I felt that he had noted every detail not only of my appearance, but of the rice paper letter lying open beside me on the little stand.

His eyes expressionless, beady, but more terrifying in their blankness than if they had been filled with anger fastened themselves upon the paper for what seemed an eternity. Then, slowly lifting a hand from which I subconsciously noted that the little finger was missing, he pointed with the forefinger at the letter. Then he made a beckoning gesture, patently directing me to bring it to the window and give it to him.

The eyes were so devoid of expression, the movements of the hand so mechanical, that I had the eerie feeling of watching a robot with movements directed by some super intelligence outside But when, as I did not move, the beckoning gesture was repeated, this time with an opening wide of the eyes in the fashion that a snake might employ, I decided that the time had come for action.

With one hand I grasped the letter, with the other I picked up the small coffee pot, fortunately a heavy one, and hurled it straight at the face pressed against the pane I did not wait to see the effect of my throw, although the sound of shattering glass told me that what Dicky facetiously calls my "pitcher's arm" had not failed me. But at the moment following the loosening of the pot from my hand, I had thrown myself back upon the couch, rolled to the back of it and dropped to the floor. With the rice paper clutched in my hand I shoved the couch to a position in front of the swinging door, and in its shelter crawled into the tiny entry, at the same time calling through the kitchen window.

Mr. Ticer Optimistic

"Mr. Ticer! Quick! In the kitchen door."

I rushed to the door and opened it just as he reached it.

"What? Where?" he asked breathlessly, and I told him of the staring eyes, and of what I had done, getting as far away as possible from the windows as I spoke I had an unreasoning fear that the blank inhuman face, perhaps now gashed and bleeding, would suddenly appear at another window.

But Mr. Ticer was more optimistic. He brought one fist into the palm of his other hand with an exclamation of delighted approval

'Well' if you hain't about the smartest I ever seen, Mis' Graham," he said. "I'll bet you that you can't see that Chink for the dust he's kicking up"

"I wish I were sure of that." I said. straining my ears for sounds from the front room.

"Look here, if you're nervous," my neighbor said with an appearance of ease, although I noticed that he kept himself carefully out of range of the windows, "why don't you go upstairs? There's a window in our bedroom that looks right down on that one you broke, and you can see whether he's still there or not You can look around all directions too and see if you can see the direction he's gone But it's a cinch he'd go off toward that thicket There haint enough cover on this side for a hen to hide, and you can bet he hain't anxious to be seen But I'll keep a sharp lookout from this side Don't you think we'd better telephone your house and have Mr Graham and Jim come over?"

"Not yet," I said with a sudden recollection of the errand which had brought me to the farmhouse. Not if I could help it did I wish Dicky to know of the subterfuge, I, or, rather, Lillian for me, had employed concerning my errand.

"I am expecting a telephone message, you know," I went on lamely, "and calling the farmhouse might interfere with it. I'll go up and see what there is to be seen If that man should come back —"

"I've got my shotgun all loaded in the corner," Mr. Ticer said with a bit of a swagger "always keep it because of weasels and those pesky hounds of Barker's coming 'round the hen house, and you can bet I'm not afraid to use it."

"You probably wouldn't need to use it," I said with a shudder. "The threat would no doubt be sufficient," and then I went to the bedroom upstairs and, standing at one side of the wndow and screening myself with the curtain, I looked down fearfully at the grass around the window below me.

19 GAMES BOOKED THIS WEEK IN CITY RECREATION BASEBALL

SPORTS

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

WHERE'S that yap that tried to tell me I couldn't name 100 probable winners of Marion recreation ball games and have five of them come out as predicted. Last week there were 10 games played and of that number the results of seven were forecast correctly in this column. (Please don't remember this when I miss about 15 of 16 forecasts some of these weeks.) I thought I ought to tell you about the high batting average I had this week before it hits the skids with a big rush.

• • •

Predicting winners this week is going to be quite a lot tougher than last. Several of the favorites of the various leagues are scheduled to oppose each other and that means anything may happen. (Probably anything but what I forecast.) If the percentage of predictions this week are 500 or above there is going to be a celebration in the city this week-end.

• • •

These might as well come now as later. Here are the probable winners of the games in the No. 2 Sunday school league today. Christion No. 1 will beat United Brethren Presbyterians will beat First Reformed and Wesley will defeat St. Paul Lutherans. The Christian Seniors vs. Forest Lawn game is a tossup. I'll name the Christians on the flip of a coin and then say a prayer that it'll be correct.

• • •

After launching the season in good form and battering their way through all the western opposition for the first few weeks of the season the Cleveland Indians have suddenly collapsed, losing nine games in succession to eastern teams to Competition To Speed Up as Play Goes into Second Week of Sked.

RAIN having seriously curtailed the opening week's program of the city recreation baseball season, teams in the four leagues are hoping for a better break as regards the weather for the second week of competition. Nineteen games are carded within the city, four being games postponed last week in the Sunday school league No. 1. One game of this week's schedule, Serv-U-Wel vs. General Excavator of the Commercial league, has been postponed at the request of the Excavator manager.

Unless rain again interferes this week softball partisans are destined to see some highly interesting competition in the next five days. Nineteen games are booked and the majority of them are likely to be closely contested although there are certain to be some that will not be so hard-fought.

The Best Games

Some of the strongest teams in the No. 2 Sunday school circuit will lock horns today. The Presbyterians will make their first start of the year against the First Reformed team in a game that is likely to have a lot to do with where both teams finish the race this season. Reformed won easily last week in somewhat of an upset and will be working hard to keep in the winning column.

The most bitterly fought battles of the week are likely to come on Tuesday and Wednesday when the No. 1 Sunday school league turns loose the fire of its big guns. The league will play on both days to make up for lost time due to rain last week. There are only two contests of the eight booked for Tuesday and Wednesday that do not bear the earmarks of a good game. Some may not turn out to be as tight as expected but almost all are certain to be well worth watching.

Top notchers are billed against the weaker teams of the Industrial circuit this week with one exception and consequently competition in the league is not likely to be quite up to standard. The Shovel-C., D. & M. game is easily the outstanding attraction of the Thursday league schedule.

Two good games are booked for Friday in the Commercial league and the third does not look so promising at this time. The Prospect-Company B club engagement should be a fairly good game but the K. of P.-Kappa fray will top the list. The Erie Traffic club should experience little difficulty in defeating the Wesley J'rs.

ATHLETICS HAMMER INDIAN'S ACE FROM MOUND TO WIN, 15-10

Mackmen Extend Victory Streak to Nine in Row; Cards Beat Giants.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

A hoodoo seems to have pursued Wesley Ferrell, Cleveland ace, since he pitched a hitless shutout against the St. Louis Browns three weeks ago. Since then he has been able to pitch only one full game. On his next start he got out of some trouble and beat Detroit but he has failed to last through the last three games he started.

The Indians called on him again yesterday in an endeavor to halt the slump they have been in ever since they began meeting eastern teams. He weathered five stormy innings against the Athletics and contributed a home run on his own account. But in the sixth he gave way to Pete Jablonowski, who was charged with Cleveland's ninth straight defeat. The A's also used three pitchers in the slugfest which wound up wit a 15 to 10 score, Hank McDonald getting credit for the victory after George Earnshaw had been driven from the hill. Five homers featured the game, the ninth in succession won by Philadelphia.

Twin Bill Divided

Another flock of four baggers turned up as Washington and the St. Louis Browns divided a double header. The Browns won the first, 7 to 1, behind Sammy Gray's fine pitching to break their five game losing streak and end the Senators' string of victories at six. Homers by West and Bluege in the ninth inning of the second clash broke up a pitching duel between Lefty Brown and George Blaeholder, giving Washington a 4 to 2 triumph.

Ground rules limited the long hits at Detroit to two bases as 38,000 fans, the biggest crowd of the season, turned out to see the New York Yankees outslug the Tigers 8 to 5. Roy Sherid went the full distance for New York although he gave 14 hits. Boston and Chicago showed that the spell of pitching had not been completely broken as the White Sox pushed

RED BIRDS WIN BOTH ENDS OF TWIN CARD WITH TOLEDO SUNDAY

Extra Inning Frays Go to Columbus by 2-1 and 6-5 Scores.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 18—The St Louis Cardinals farm system is proving a benefit to the Columbus Club of the American Association, both in the question of quality of performance and activity at the turnstiles.

The Red Birds, formerly the Senators, yesterday put on two rousing 10-inning victories over the Toledo Mud Hens to go into second place—and did it before 9,000 fans. The first contest was one of those pitching duals that are becoming more and more frequent around the circuit. Recruit Ed Chapman went the whole way and held the Hens to two hits to gain a 2 to 1 decision over the veteral Carl Mays. Mays gave only six hits.

In the second contest Del Wetherell battled Elam Van Gilder on even terms until he was removed for a pinchbatsman in the seventh Columbus won 6 to 5.

Kansas City hammered out a 10 to 3 victory in the first game of a doubleheader behind Joe Maley's good hurling, and they battled 12 innings to a 5-5 tie in the second

St. Paul finally conquered the troublesome Minneapolis Millers, winning by 6 to 2 after losing two straight.

Louisville dropped to third place by dividing a doubleheader with Indianapolis. The Indians won the opener, 9 to 6, and the Colonels took the second, 9 to 5.

Waldo, Kirkpatrick Lead in Rural Diamond Loop

Waldo in the North half, and Kirkpatrick of the South division jumped into first place in the Marion county recreation baseball league as a result of games played in the circuit Saturday. Neither has been defeated in two starts.

Results of Saturday's games are as follows: Martel M. E. 7, Morral M. E. 2; Kirkpatrick M. E. 15 Caledonia M. E. 7; Waldo Lutheran 11, Green Camp Baptist 3; Pleasant Lutheran 9, Green Camp M. E. 0 (forfeit). Other games scheduled for Saturday were not reported.

Shovel Presents Card of Boxing, Wrestling Tonight

BY KARL McELROY.

Marion's first mixed wrestling and boxing program in years will be presented tonight at 8:30 in the Steam Shovel gym.

Four bouts, two of them wrestling, will be presented and the card promises the utmost in the way of action and entertainment. The advance sale of tickets indicates that the show will draw more than the average number of fans.

The main go will be a grudge match. It will feature two wrestlers who will discard their leg splits and dead locks for the more gentle art of boxing. It will bring together Ray Carpenter of Lancaster and Dug Marcelle of Canada.

These two wrestlers met in the semi-final of last week's mat card. They stole the spotlight from the main go when the bout broke up in a general fight. The boys were rather peeved at the way things went on the mat and started bragging about their abilities with the old dukes.

One word led to another, as words usually do, and before they had dressed challenges had been flung back and forth with reckless abandon. Local promoters seized the opportunity to give fans a treat and signed them for a 10-round bout.

Frank Higgins and Dick Leaver will appear in the main go of the wrestling card. They are scheduled for the semi-final of the show. The match is booked for one hour with two falls needed to win.

Johnny Gerry, Marion's outstanding slinger of gloved hands, will face Phil O'Dowd of Columbus over the six-round route.

The curtain raiser brings together Ray Hamilton of Marion and Carl Beightler of Marysville in a wrestling card. Hamilton is expetced to have a tough time keeping his slate clean.

WHIZ! BANG!

Pop Bottles Fly as Brewer Batsman Is "Dusted Off"

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 18 — Arthur Shires and Garland "Gob" Buckeye, former major league stars, took part Sunday in a riot which developed after Pitcher Jack Knott of the Milwaukee Brewers knocked out Bill Dunlap, Kansas City Blues first baseman, with a pitched ball.

Dunlap had singled, doubled, tripled and hit two home runs in his first five times at bat and when he was knocked out by a fast ball in the eleventh there were shouts that Knott had hit him intentionally.

Manager Dutch Zwilling of the Blues began pummeling Knott when Shires rushed from first base, displayed some of the things he learned when he was a prize fighter and quickly subdued Zwilling. A fan hurdled a gate and started at Shires. Buckeye jumped suddenly from the dugout and knocked down the fan.

OLD GOLDS

OLD GOLDS were created to give you THROAT-EASE... as well as a more delightful tasting cigarette. But the makers also considered your breath, your lips, your teeth, as well as your THROAT.

They created a pure-tobacco cigarette ...free of coriander and other greasy artificial flavorings* that burn into clinging, staining, breath-tainting vapors.

To avoid unpleasant aftermaths, smoke pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS. Their clean, sun-ripened, natural-flavored tobaccos will be like honey to your THROAT. And they leave no objectionable odors either on your breath or clothing, or in the room.

HERE'S THE PROOF*

Open up a pack of OLD GOLDS and smell the tobacco. Do the same with any other cigarette. Judge for yourself which has the natural, pleasant, all-tobacco aroma. It's a favor to your family and friends, as well as to yourself, to smoke NATURAL-FLAVORED, pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS.

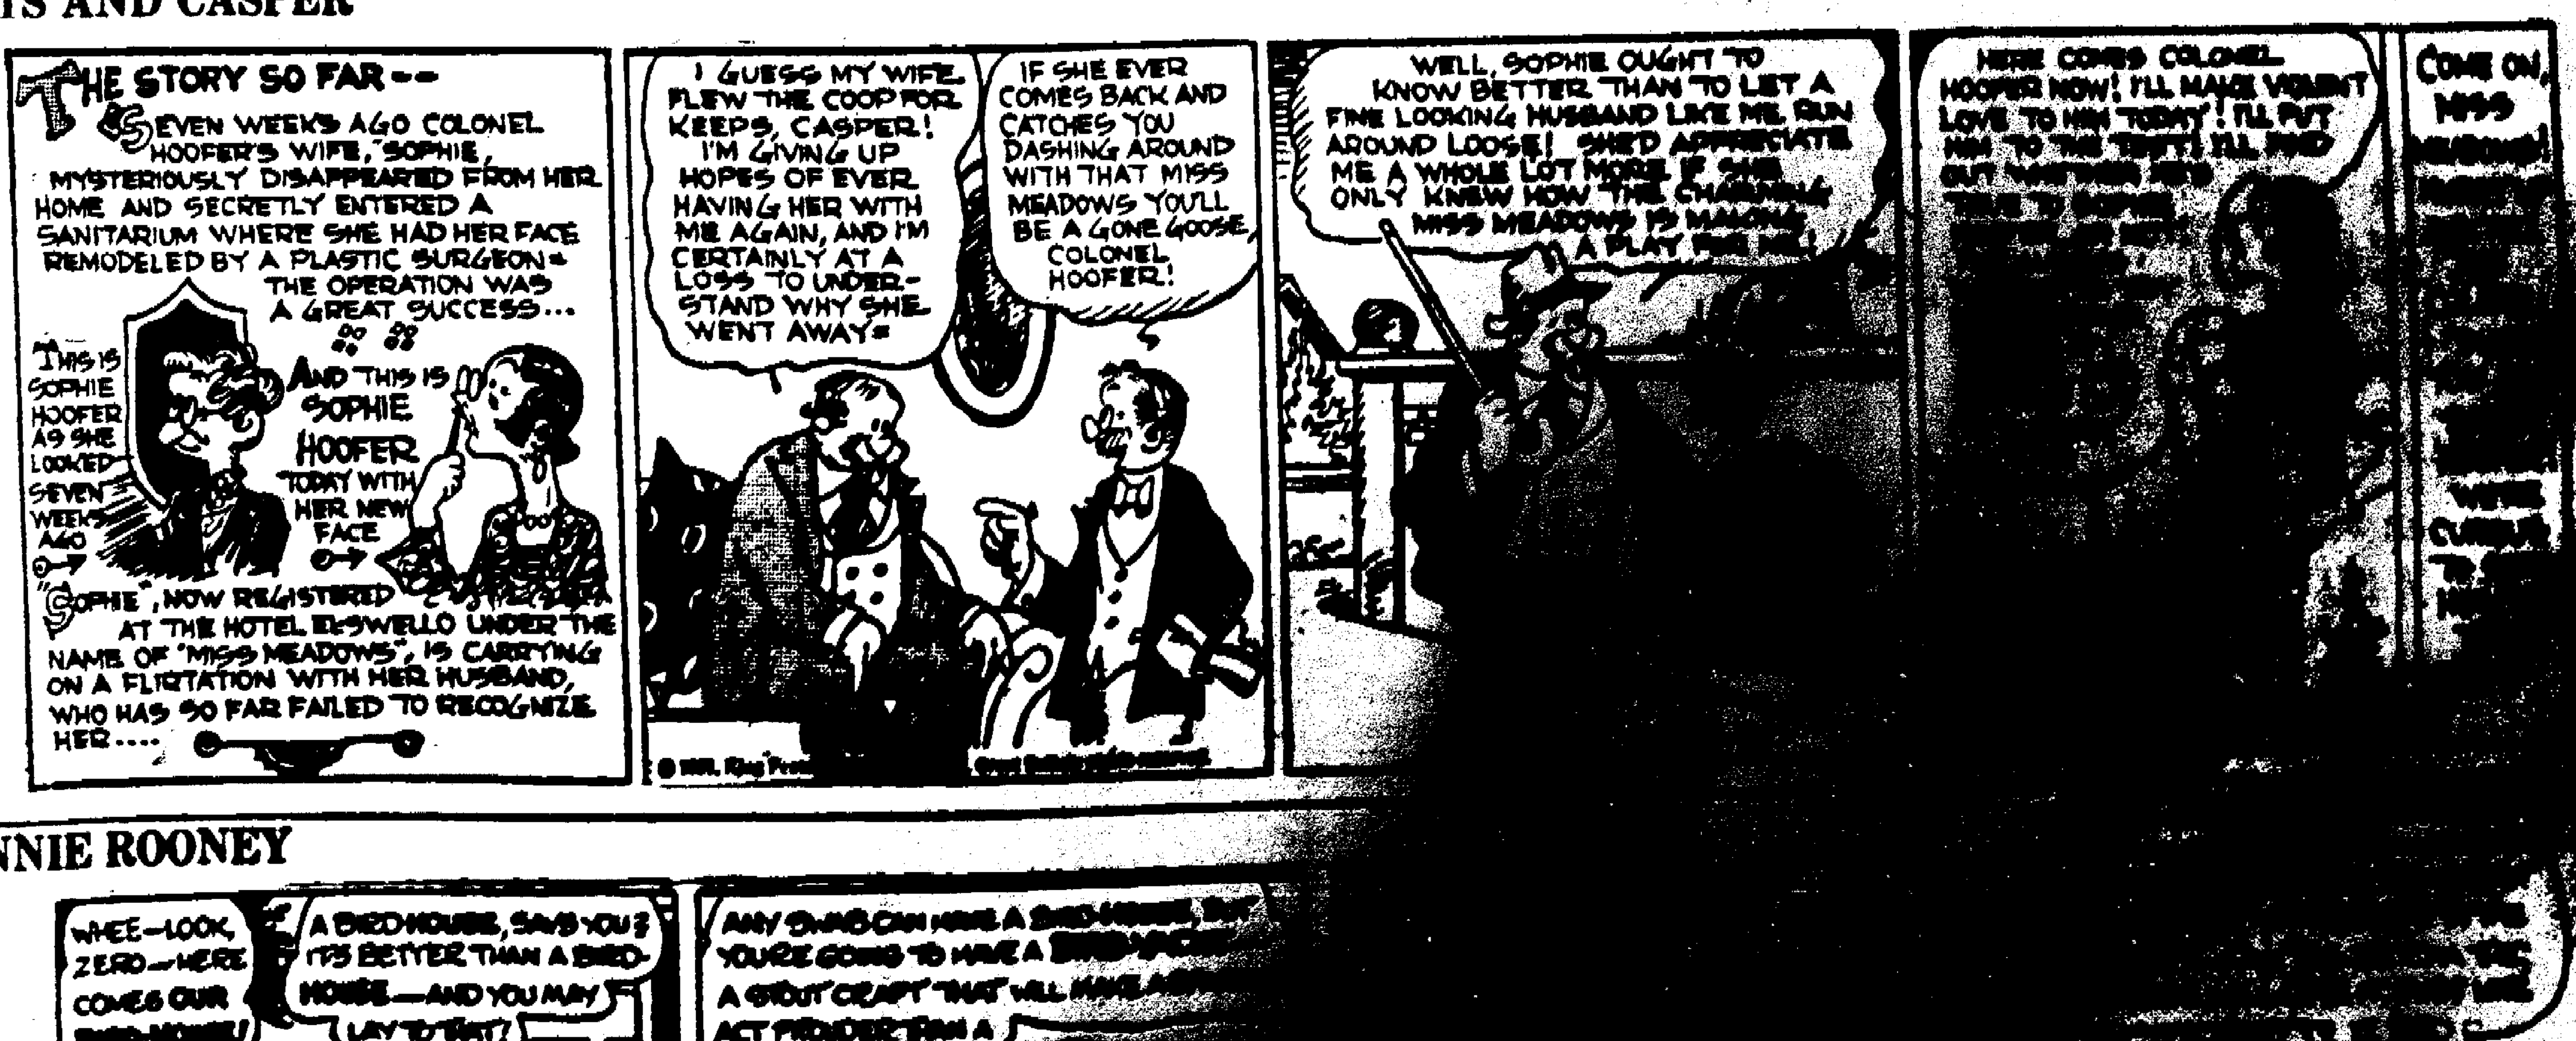
TOOTS AND CASPER

BY JIMMY MURPHY



THE STORY SO FAR--
SEVEN WEEKS AGO COLONEL HOOFER'S WIFE, "SOPHIE," MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED FROM HER HOME AND SECRETLY ENTERED A SANITARIUM WHERE SHE HAD HER FACE REMODELED BY A PLASTIC SURGEON= THE OPERATION WAS A GREAT SUCCESS...
THIS IS SOPHIE HOOFER AS SHE LOOKED SEVEN WEEKS AGO
AND THIS IS SOPHIE HOOFER TODAY WITH HER NEW FACE
"SOPHIE", NOW REGISTERED AT THE HOTEL EL-SWELLO UNDER THE NAME OF "MISS MEADOWS", IS CARRYING ON A FLIRTATION WITH HER HUSBAND, WHO HAS SO FAR FAILED TO RECOGNIZE HER....
I GUESS MY WIFE FLEW THE COOP FOR KEEPS, CASPER! I'M GIVING UP HOPES OF EVER HAVING HER WITH ME AGAIN, AND I'M CERTAINLY AT A LOSS TO UNDERSTAND WHY SHE WENT AWAY=
IF SHE EVER COMES BACK AND CATCHES YOU DASHING AROUND WITH THAT MISS MEADOWS YOU'LL BE A GONE GOOSE, COLONEL HOOFER!

WELL, SOPHIE OUGHT TO KNOW BETTER THAN TO LET A FINE LOOKING HUSBAND LIKE ME RUN AROUND LOOSE! SHE'D APPRECIATE ME A WHOLE LOT MORE IF SHE ONLY KNEW HOW THE CHARMING MISS MEADOWS IS MAKING A PLAY FOR ME!
HERE COMES COLONEL HOOFER NOW! I'LL MAKE VIOLENT LOVE TO HIM TODAY! I'LL PUT HIM TO THE TEST! I'LL FIND OUT
COME ON, MISS MEADOWS!

A STOUT CRAFT THAT WILL MAKE
ACT PROUDER THAN A PEACOCK
